

ESSENTIAL CIVIL WAR CURRICULUM

Jacqueline G. Campbell received her Ph.D. from Duke University, 2000 and is currently Associate Professor of American History at Francis Marion University, SC. She specializes in the social history of the Civil War Era and the antebellum South. Her first book, When Sherman Marched North from the Sea: Resistance on the Confederate Home Front (UNC, 2003), examined the interactions between northern soldiers and southern civilians during Sherman's campaign through the Carolinas. Her current project is an examination of the occupation of New Orleans under Gen. Benjamin F. Butler.