Clint Johnson, Color Sergeant of the 26th Regiment of North Carolina Troops/24th Michigan Regiment, (<http://www.26nc.org/>) has been reenacting the war for nearly 40 years, first in Florida and now in North Carolina. He has participated in nearly 400 events in 14 states. He has reenacted in blistering heat, freezing cold, and in the rain, snow and mud. His most grueling event was a 22-mile march in one day from Harpers Ferry, West Virginia to Sharpsburg National Battlefield. Of all the events in which he has participated, he remembers only two that were ever called off because of the weather conditions.
