

ESSENTIAL CIVIL WAR CURRICULUM

Yoni Appelbaum is a doctoral candidate in American history at Brandeis University. He is also a Correspondent for The Atlantic and its website, TheAtlantic.com, where he writes on the intersection of history and contemporary events. His award-winning digital essays have been featured in media outlets ranging from NPR to Reuters, translated, reprinted, anthologized, and taught in college classrooms. In 2012, his essay on the Gettysburg cyclorama for The Atlantic was named a top nonfiction story of the year by The Best of Journalism. From 2010 to 2012, he was a lecturer in history at Babson College. He holds a bachelor's degree in history from Columbia University, and a master's degree in history from Brandeis.