

ESSENTIAL CIVIL WAR CURRICULUM

Lawrence Lee Hewitt (Louisiana State University) is the author, coauthor, editor, or coeditor of twelve books on Civil War history. He spent eight years managing Civil War sites for the Louisiana Office of State Parks, ten years teaching at Southeastern Louisiana University, and one year as managing editor of North & South. Professor of History emeritus since 1996, he currently resides in Chicago and devotes his time to writing, editing, lecturing, and consulting. Among his published works relating to the war on the Mississippi are:

Port Hudson, Confederate Bastion on the Mississippi. Baton Rouge and London: Louisiana State University Press, 1987. Selection of The History Book Club;

Louisianans in the Civil War. Coauthor and coeditor. Shades of Blue and Gray Series. Columbia and London: University of Missouri Press, 2002.

Leadership During the Civil War, The 1989 Deep Delta Civil War Symposium: Themes in Honor of T. Harry Williams. Coauthor and coeditor. Shippensburg, PA: White Mane Publishing Co., 1992; paper, 1992.